Door Entry

Goldshield more than just peace of mind.

Safety and security is a main driver for many landlords when considering the control of access to private or public buildings. This, in addition to the guidelines of the Disability Discrimination Act 2005 (DDA), places extra responsibility on organisations to provide a safe, secure and suitable means of access and egress for clients and their visitors.

Goldshield provides the level of expertise consistent with a market leader, ensuring that personnel, property and assets remain safe and protected against unauthorised entry.

Our range of door entry systems deliver a completely flexible and durable solution for all sizes of installation and include:

One way systems – available for individual properties with a simple, low cost, effective solution

Functional systems – available for 2 to 20 handsets with each door panel button customised specifically for each dwelling

Digital systems – which can support up to multiple blocks and up to 256 handsets per block

PC-based Concierge systems – user friendly touch screen interface to allow remote operation of multiple blocks via various audio/data transmission methods.

All systems can either be audio or audio/video with multiple adaptations to suit both your organisation and the end user. Various levels of vandal resistance are available, to suit all environments, from an aluminium panel to a rigorous stainless steel finish for more robust applications.

These systems can be fitted in conjunction with access control systems and automatic doors, to increase the level of security and operating effectiveness.

Cost effective – multiple wiring solutions to suit most applications
